

For Parents of Children K-8 with Learning and Behavioral Challenges

You Are Not Alone!

- Are you frustrated managing your child's learning and behavioral challenges at home and at school?
- Do you want more accurate information on how to advocate for and support your child at school?
- Would you like to better understand your child and improve your connection to them?
- Do you need to find balance in your home life?
- Do you want to join a community of parents who share your experience?

Find support in our small, weekly, group for parents who share similar struggles; facilitated by Dina Leitch, LMFT, and Jesse Strassman, LCSW, local therapists who work with children with learning and behavioral profiles and their families.
